DISCOVERY DAYS AT MID-STATE

Seventh grade students recently attended Discovery Days at Mid-State Technical College. They completed a career inventory to determine which career cluster their interests align with and explored programs available at MSTC!

TEEN IN ACTION!

A team of PHS students interested in engineering attended a Teen in Action event recently.

They were first asked to design and created wind generators and solar panel powered lights. Their second task was to select a problem in their community to create a more green solution for, research, and present their findings. Finally, they had the opportunity to meet real engineers and students becoming engineers in college.
